Depart late morning drive through the lanes to arrive at the Greenhills hotel for lunch. After lunch depart for a scenic drive of your choice to arrive at the private gardens for tour followed by a cream tea in the garden. Leaving in plenty of time to join the festivities along Victoria Avenue.

Hamptonne Country Life Musuem

Explore the orchard and learn about bygone crafts and quirky traditions. Meet with the resident Goodwyf and the Steward. Find out more about our history of cider making and Jersey apples. The houses are named after the families who have lived at Hamptonne, the Syvret Building, Hamptonne House and the Langlois Building – which boasts some of the oldest architectural features in the Island. At the instigation of the late Joan Stevens, the Island's three main heritage organisations joined forces to save this unique farm complex and create the Island's first country life museum. With the assistance of the States of Jersey the Trust acquired Hamptonne, which was then restored and refurbished by the Societe Jersiaise. The Jersey Heritage Trust completed the interpretation of 400 years of rural history.

Private Garden

This garden was first begun in 1970 by the mother of the present owner, who have since extended and enlarged the garden in recent years. In front of the traditional Jersey farmhouse is the Italianate garden set around and above a sunken rectangular lawn, the borders here are a riot of unusual and familiar perennials and shrubs. Nearby are the miniature formal herb gardens, the Mediterranean garden and the ornamental kitchen garden. The valley stretching down below the house is planted with specimen trees, including magnolia, cornus, eucalyptus and many species of fir. The woods hold a collection of large camellias, which flower continuously from November to July. Fifty camellias from the Trehane's nursery were planted within the valley.

Batterie Moltke

Comprising four 15.5cm K418(f) gun emplacements and an associated underground complex was named in honour of Helmuth Johann Ludwig von Moltke, who was Chief of the German General Staff from 1906 to 1914. One of the gun emplacements has been totally restored, along with extensive underground passages that link up to a Kriegsmarine M151 personnel shelter that accommodated 27 men. This bunker, with a ceiling two metres thick, was built to "Fortress" standards. It is fully equipped with original ventilation equipment, boiler, bunks, and central heating. On permanent display outside is a 15.5cm K418(f) heavy French First World War field gun, that has been restored and put back in its original emplacement, having been recovered from the bottom of the cliffs at Les Landes by the Occupation Society in 1991. All of Jersey's 29 heavy coastal artillery guns were dumped over the cliffs in a massive clean-up operation ordered by the States of Jersey after the Liberation whose demand was: "We want this island cleansed of the taint of German Occupation". The job was entrusted to Major Sargent, of the Royal Army Ordnance Corps (RAOC), who dumped the guns over the cliffs in February/March, 1946. Four M512 ammunition bunkers were also built to serve the gun, three of which are now used for display purposes. The complex has been subject to an ongoing restoration project that commenced in 1979.
